

ABOUT THE JOURNAL

UTMPahang started its journal in the late 1980s as a platform for its researchers to publish their thoughts, opinions as well as academic papers that would serve not only the academic population but also the public. The journal was named Jurnal Gadang where gadang is the Malay word for the elephant tusk, a symbol for the state of Pahang. The journal continued its publication throughout the years, despite some obstacles along the way. The journal now concentrates in publishing articles in the field of Social Sciences with the aim of becoming more focused in its publication and head towards becoming a niche journal in the area. The journal now is known as Gadang Journal for Social Sciences.